POLICE RAINIPE OUT EVIL

Makers of Crooked Gambling Devices are Brought Into Court

Disclosures of conditions which only threatened the discipline of the United States army and navy that the two departments, a President Roosevelt himself, were upon to aid in their suppression made in the Harrison street police Chicago, on Monday when dealers in crooked gambling devices were arraigned.

It was charged that a coterie of men engaged in making and selling devices had formed a "trust" and years ago, swindled and corrupted enlisted men of the army and navy to loaded dice, "holdouts," magnetized wheels, and other crooked gambling apparatus. The prisoners were charged with violating the laws concerning possession or manufacture of gambling devices. It was represented that the men were being systematically robbed of "trust" of makers and dealers in crooked gambling paraphernalia in Chicago, taking millions out of the industry. The latest raids, which terminated in a police court hearing on Monday, it was believed, one of the most serious influences by which the army had been menaced for many years. According to army officials, who were interested in the raids, the tentacles of crooked gambling "trust" in Chicago reach over the civilized world, hitches on nearly every United States ship, army post and military post; used wholesale desecrations, and in general disrupted the entire defensive institution of the nation.

The exposure and extermination of the gambling trust, all resulted from the investigations and exposures made by the journal at Highwood, in conjunction with the military authorities at Fort Sheridan, which resulted in the indictment of Mayor Michael Gibbs of that city and the arrest of many developers. In Highwood a number of investigations had been made by the military authorities, and the exposure of the "crooked trust to Bloomington" some exposures of a highly "unusual" character are promised in which prominent persons in north shore social and business life are to be connected with the scandal arising from the operations of "crooked" games at Highwood.

State's Attorney Hanna, at Waukegan, will be given possession in a few days of records showing that the ownership of property where gambling of the "crooked" species, brothels, bunks games and the sale of indecently had "liquor," as well as the most revolting forms of human depravity thrived, is vested in those who have been deemed "respectable citizens." It will also be shown that these owners had been notified of the practices which existed, and are now said to exist.

Following the indictment of the crooked gambling trust by the army officials, and an appeal for protection for the army to the Chicago police, Detective Clifton Woolbridge, at the head of a detail, started the raids by closing up E. Manning Stockton, alias "Barr & Co.," at 56 Fifth avenue, Chicago. Fully $7,000 worth of crooked games were confiscated and Stockton pleaded guilty under the state law. That was the first step. Other alleged members of the trust, Herbert S. Mills, H. C. Evans and Charles Moore, alias "Hood & Co.," all alleged to be manufacturers of the crooked devices, were arrested. Saturday $10,000 worth of paraphernalia was confiscated.

H. C. Evans' case was discontinued until June 16; the case against Chas. Moore, of Hood & Co., city charges, were dismissed, and state warrants will be issued. The case of Herbert Mills was continued until Saturday, and E. Manning Stockton, who once pleaded guilty, will be prosecuted on another case Saturday.

Besides the corruption of the army, these companies are said to have aimed a blow at the foundation of the nation, by offering through a mail order plan, for 6 cents, loaded dice to school boys, provided they sent the names of likely gamblers among their playmates. This plan had not reached its full growth when nipped. But the disruption of the army and navy had been well under way for several years and had reached such gigantic proportions that the military service was in danger of complete disorganization.

Thousands of men were mulcted of their pay monthly. Desertions followed these wholesale robberies. The war department could not find the specific trouble. Post commanders and battleship commanders were instructed to investigate. At last, as a result of the Highwood scandal, President Roosevelt was informed by the commandant at Fort Sheridan what the evil element was.

JUDGE CARTER ELECTED.

Receives a Vote of 49,084, while His Nearest Opponent's was 26,823.

VOLIVA TO BUILD RIVAL CITY

If Dowle Regains Control of Zion Rival will Found New City.

After formulating several drastic plans to prevent John Alexander Dowle from ever again gaining the upper hand in Zion city, Overseer Voliva has decided to establish rival industries in case Dowle wins in the courts. Confident that at least 90 per cent of the workmen are with him, Voliva will invite all the workmen to desert Dowle and take employment in the rival factories and stores when the new industries are ready to begin operations.

The workmen of Zion were asked to sign written pledges that they would strike should Dowle be given control of the various properties. Many signed the pledges, but there was complaint that if the people struck they would be unable to secure other work and would starve. Voliva saw that the people must have employment. Then it was he announced that the people of Zion would leave and found a new colony if the Voliva regime should be overthrown.

Since that time the business council has been prospecting. It held a meeting to discuss several propositions made by outsiders and Zion capitalists for the establishment of new industries.

Voliva says that among the industries to be established are piano, necktie and shirtwaist, artificial building stone, fire escape and office supply factories.

The new leader in Zion intends to revolutionize social conditions in Zion. Young men and women will now be permitted to associate with each other after the fashion of young men and women everywhere else in the United States.

LIGHTNING HITS WOMAN

Hit while at Work in Her Kitchen and Is Not Expected to Live.

Monday morning while she was working in the kitchen at her home on the Frank Lodek farm west of Gurnee, Mrs. Cudworth, wife of a well known farmer, was struck by lightning, rendered unconscious and is now in a critical condition. Doctors worked over her for hours. Her body is badly burned and little hopes are held out that she can recover. The bolt struck the house, went through it in two places but did not set fire to it.

A TARGET FOR CRITICISM.

REVEALED PACKING HORRORS

Finding of Commissioners Neill and Reynolds are Sent to Congress

Washington, June 4.—President Roosevelt Monday transmitted to congress the first installment of the report of Charles P. Neill and James B. Reynolds, appointed by him to investigate conditions in the Chicago stock yards.

The report is a long and detailed one, and is absolutely necessary reading for all who are interested in the health of the nation. It is a but little increase of the report of the Beveridge amendment providing for a rigorous government inspection "from hoof to can." The cost of the inspection must lie with the packers, says the president, if it is to be at all effective.

Message to Congress.

The message in part follows: I transmit herewith the report of Mr. James B. Reynolds and Commissioner Charles P. Neill, the special committee whom I appointed to investigate into the conditions in the stock yards of Chicago and report thereon to me. This report is of a preliminary nature. I submit it to you now because it shows the urgent need of immediate action by the congress in the direction of providing a drastic and thoroughgoing inspection by the federal government of all stock yards and packing houses and of their products, so far as the latter enter into interstate or foreign commerce. The conditions shown by even this short inspection to exist in the Chicago stock yards are revolting. It is imperatively necessary in the interest of health and of decency that they should be radically changed. Under the existing law it is wholly impossible to secure satisfactory results.

The report shows that the stock yards and packing houses are not kept even reasonably clean, and that the method of handling and preparing food products is uncleanly and dangerous to health. Under existing law the national government has no power to enforce inspection of the many forms of prepared meat food products that are daily going from the packing houses into interstate commerce. Owing to an inadequate appropriation the department of agriculture is not even able to place inspectors in all establishments desiring them.

The present law prohibits the shipment of uninspected meat to foreign countries, but there is no provision forbidding the shipment of uninspected meats in interstate commerce, and thus the avenues of interstate commerce are left open to traffic in diseased or spoiled meats. It, as has been alleged on seemingly good authority, further evils exist, such as the improper use of chemicals and dyes, the government lacks power to remedy them.

A law is needed which will enable the inspectors of the general government to inspect and supervise from the hoof to the can the preparation of the meat food product. Evil in Canned Products. The evil seems to be much less in the sale of dressed carcasses than in the sale of canned and other prepared products; and very much less as regards products sent abroad than as regards those used at home.

I urge the immediate enactment into law of provisions which will enable the department of agriculture adequately to inspect the meat and meat food products entering into interstate commerce and to supervise the method of preparing the same, and to prescribe necessary conditions under which the work shall be performed. I therefore commend to your favorable consideration and urge the enactment of substantially the provisions known as a state amendment No. 29 to the act making appropriations for the department of agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, as passed by the senate, this amendment being commonly known as the Beveridge amendment.

CHICAGO PACKING HOUSES AND STOCKYARDS FILTHY

Washington, June 4.—The following is a synopsis of the report of J. B. Reynolds and Commissioner Neill to the president on conditions in the Chicago stockyards. The two officials recently investigated the charges of the horrible conditions there on the instance of the president, and the report has been anxiously awaited.

Cleanliness Is Absent.

The report says that two and one-half weeks were spent in the investigation in Chicago, during which "we went through the principal packing houses in the stockyards district together with a few of the smaller ones. A day was spent by Mr. Reynolds in New York city in the investigation of its leading slaughtering houses."

The report says that in many of the rooms where water is used freely the floors are soaked and slimy, and the dark and dingy rooms are naturally not kept suitably clean. An absence of cleanliness was found everywhere in the handling of meat being prepared for the various meat products. The parts that are sent from the cooling room to these departments where various forms of meat products are prepared, are handled with no regard whatever to cleanliness. The workers climb over heaps of meat, select the pieces they wish, and frequently throw them down upon the dirty floor beside their benches.

Shovel Meat from Floors. "In a word," the report adds, "we saw meat shoveled from filthy wooden floors, piled on tables rarely washed, pushed from room to room in rotten box carts, in all of which processes it was in the way of gathering dirt, splinters, floor filth; it was always the reply that this meat would afterwards be cooked, and that this sterilization would prevent any danger from its use. A very considerable portion of the meat so handled is sent out as smoked products and in the form of sausages, which are prepared to be eaten without being cooked."

A particularly glaring instance of uncleanness was found in a room where the best grade of sausage was being prepared for export.

Sanitary Provisions Bad.

The report arraigns the sanitary provisions in the buildings as abominable, and says the men and women plunger their naked hands into the meat to be converted into food products. The report says the burden of protecting the cleanliness of the products and the health of the workers and improving the conditions must fall upon the national government.

Department superintendents "seem to ignore all considerations except the account book," and proper care of the products and of health and comfort of the employees is impossible, and the consumer consequently suffers.

THE MRS. EDWARDS MYSTERY

Did Miss Sivers Run Away to Get Married to a Mr. Edwards?

A skein of mystery interwoven with love and pathos surrounds the disappearance of 15-year-old Carrie Sivers of this village.

Her lover, William Horton of Grass Lake, better known among his associates as "Babe Soules," claims to know very little concerning her whereabouts and evinces no desire to tell what he does know.

For a long time he had kept company with the girl. The girl was supposed to return the affections with which the man was credited. It was supposed they were to be married soon, when the girl was considered of proper age. He came to see her often and all seemed well between the two.

Her father, however, who was twice married to her mother and twice divorced, wished her to marry another. The father and his chosen husband for her both live in Kenosha.

Miss Sivers has been working at the home of William Rinear in this village. The day previous to her disappearance she is said to have written Soules to be sure to meet her that night as she feared something was going to happen to her. He failed to come that night but early the following morning, even before the girl was up and about, he was waiting at the house to talk to her. A hurried consultation was held and he drove away.

After his departure the girl seemed downcast. She had stated to Mrs. Rinear that she had seen him in the evening as she was seen to leave the house and join two men for a few minutes. Later she confessed that she had lied to the family and that the men she met were not "Babe" and his brother," as she had said. Who they were is not known.

In the evening following her early morning consultation with Soules and the evening meeting with the two men, she disappeared.

Soules is alleged to have received a letter from her, stating that she no longer loved him and signed "Mrs. Edwards." A postscript was added in another hand, it is said, warning him to "keep away from my wife" and suggesting personal violence if he persisted. Where "Mrs. Edwards" creeps into the story is another phase of the mystery.

A half-sister of Soules, who lives in Kenosha, believes the girl to be there, and in the home of her father she saw a shirtwaist which she formerly wore. They denied, however, that she was there or had been there.

REV. ABEL TO REMAIN IN PRISON

States Attorney Will Fight all Efforts to Secure a Re-Hearing.

Rev. Almon Clarence Abel, who confessed in Judge Smith's court that he was a bigamist, must remain in the Joliet penitentiary, declares the state's attorney's office.

Influential friends of the disgraced pastor are at work in an effort to secure a re-hearing of his case on the ground that he is the victim of mental derangement. Assistant State's Attorney Harry Olson declared that he would oppose all attempts to release the former pastor of Trinity Methodist church from state's prison.

News that Mr. Abel had been sentenced to the penitentiary caused consternation in at least three congregations in Chicago where he had been pastor. His friends quickly rallied to his support.

"It is nonsensical to contend that Abel is insane," said Mr. Olson. "He is one of the brightest and most intellectual of men in Chicago. I have no doubt that Abel's friends and members of the several parishes over which he presided are reluctant to believe in his guilt, but he made a voluntary confession in open court and pleaded guilty. No leniency should be shown the accused in this case."

FEROCIOUS CAT ATTACKS WOMAN.

Mrs. W. A. Cannon Severely Bitten By a Pet Animal.

W. A. Cannon, who lives on the north boundary of Zion City, Thursday morning rescued his wife from an attack of a pet cat by attacking it with club and beating it from her leg where the animal had fastened its fangs. He had difficulty in getting the animal away and kicked it repeatedly before he could loosen its grip on the woman who was shrieking with pain.

After he had beaten the cat off, the farmer seized a club and started to beat its life out but the enraged animal turned on him and it was with difficulty that he saved himself from being bitten. He finally ended its life by beating it with a club and himself escaped injuries.

Mrs. Cannon had been working about the house, when a pet cat which they had had about the house for years, suddenly sprang upon her, fastening its fangs into her left leg. It drove its teeth right thru her dress and skirts and the wound inflicted was a severe one. Dr. Foley of this city was called and he cauterized the wound. The woman's condition is now being watched closely as it is feared the animal may have been mad, altho' prior to the sudden attack, not a sign of it showed itself.

TAKES POISON IN PARK.

Wife Visiting at Wadsworth Receives News of Husband's Death.

Samuel W. Shaw, 494 Belmont Chicago, committed suicide Saturday at eight o'clock in Lincoln taking poison. His wife had gone to relatives in Wadsworth, Lake county at the time.

Shaw was a drug clerk employed drug store at North Clark st., and Wadsworth avenue, Chicago, and for the last days had been acting as if under some mental strain. In order to forget his trouble he had recourse to narcotics and Saturday when he reported for work his employer told him to go home and sleep and report for work Monday. An hour afterward his body was found under a tree in Lincoln park by James Heminger, 241 Hampden court.

Mrs. Shaw has been at Wadsworth visiting relatives for some time and was there when the news came to her of her husband's death. She is the daughter of Mrs. Wm. Niel. Mr. Niel died a couple of weeks ago. The family is quite well known in and about Wadsworth.

BIG SUM FOR SCHOOL FUND

State's Attorney Turns Fines and Forfeitures to School Fund.

State's Attorney Hanna established a record, perhaps a precedent for the state's attorneys office in this county—he turned over to County Supt. of Schools Gaggan $2,291 for the school fund, the money coming from fines and forfeitures, etc.

The money came mostly from the blind pig operators in the lake region.

That this is a record and something unusual for the office is shown in that the following amounts were turned over to the school funds in the years mentioned:

1903—$5.00
1904—$108.
1905—$20.

Mr. Gaggan states that this is the first time that he can recall such a large amount has been turned over to the fund.

Modern Sea Voyage.

The ocean has been conquered to such an extent that a first-class ship is safer than a railroad train. To London in less than six days is nothing. The passenger who pays hundreds of dollars for a "sea" voyage on the express boats cannot possibly get his money's worth unless he wins at poker. He steps out of his city mansion into a floating hotel and at the end of the voyage out of the floating hotel into a stationary one and has hardly had time to get seasick or get over a seasickness.

Queer Fishing in China.

When the water of the Canton river is low the Chinese catch the gobies which lie on the mud. They use a board four or five feet long and a foot broad, slightly turned up at the front end, where a piece of wood is provided for a hand rest. They rest one knee on the sledge and propel themselves along the mud with their other foot.

CARIBOU A GOOD SWIMMER

Speed Afloat So Great It Takes a Strong Canoeist to Overtake Him.

Clad with a coat of oily wool next his skin, the caribou is covered exteriorly with a dense pelage of fine quills. Every caribou, indeed, wears a cork jacket, and when this is prime the creature seems on the water rather than in the water. No other quadruped that I know swims as high as the caribou, says a writer in Scribner's Magazine.

Their speed afloat is so great that it takes the best of canoeists to overtake a vigorous buck. A good paddler is supposed to cover about six miles an hour, so the caribou probably goes faster. There are many kinds of wood-land and rough country over which the caribou cannot travel so fast as this.

What wonder, then, that they are so ready to take to the water as soon as they find it in their course. Mr. Munn assured me that several times he saw caribou swim a broad bay that was in their line, though a trifling deflection would have given them easy walking along the shore to the same point, and with but little increase of distance.

Following the Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. ADVERTISE IN THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

JOHN C. NEW DEAD OF DROPSY

HAD HELD MANY POSITIONS OF HONOR AND TRUST.

Was United States Treasurer, Assistant Secretary of Treasury and Consul General to London.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5.—John C. New died Monday afternoon at 5:10 of dropsy. Around his bedside were his wife, his son, Harry S. New, vice chairman of the national Republican committee, and his daughter, Mrs. Ernest H. Burford, of this city. Another daughter, Mrs. W. R. McKean, Jr., is en route here from her home at Omaha, Neb.

Mr. New had been sick for nearly a year. He was born in 1831 at Vernon, Ind. He was educated at Bethany College, Va., and studied law in the office of former Gov. Wallace, of Indiana.

He served a term as clerk of Marion County, and was appointed by Gov. Olcott, county, and Indiana's war governor, to Morton, Indiana's war governor, or, quartermaster general during the war.

He served a term in the civil war. He served a term in the state senate and entered the banking business. In 1875 President Grant appointed him United States treasurer, which position he held for the following year when he bought the Indianapolis Journal, of which he was proprietor for many years. He was chairman of the Indiana Republican campaign in 1876, and in 1882 President Arthur appointed him assistant secretary of the treasury. He resigned this position in 1884, when, as state chairman, he took charge of the campaign in Indiana. He was the personal political manager of Benjamin Harrison, and when Mr. Harrison was nominated for the presidency in 1888 Mr. New was appointed consul-general at London.

At this time he transferred his interests in the Indianapolis Journal to his son, Harry S. New, now vice chairman of the Republican national convention at Minneapolis in 1892 which renominated Gen. Harrison for the presidency. Mr. New devoted the last ten years of his life to his property interests in this city.

The preacher looked grimly at the man for a moment and then answered: "Well, I can walk on water better than I can on rum."

HE DID TOO MUCH WORK

Old Hand Meets with an Objector
That Is Startlingly Unique.

"They're ostracizing the workers on dictionaries as well as in other callings," said a man who for years has been writing definitions. "The younger men are doing the work, and the old fellows, the men of ripe experience, trained in the earlier school of accuracy, are being shoved to the wall."

"I have held down good jobs on several cyclopedias and dictionaries, among the latter being the Century and the Standard. In those offices I was one of the youngest staff workers, with any number of learned gray-beards ahead of me. Now, at 54, I am the patriarch of the office, and the staff is made up of young fellows, masters and doctors of arts of sciences, just out of college."

"They like easier hours, and don't believe in crowding too much work into them, either. I am used to a longer and a fuller day."

"The other day the boss came to me and said: 'Mr. Soandso, aren't you doing too much work? You turn in more than any other man in the office.'"

"I was dumfounded, but managed to ask if anything wrong had been found in the work itself, for I have always prided myself upon my painstaking accuracy."

"Well, no," the chief admitted. "I haven't found any error so far, but I fear for the quality of your work when the quantity so far exceeds the requirement. You're doing twice as much as our best workers. It's all right to be sure, but—"

"Now, what do you think of that? Now I'm waiting for the ax to fall."

SEARCH FOR HIDDEN GOLD.

Cask of Precious Metal That Was Stolen and Buried in Indian Territory.

During the closing years of the civil war, when the Indian territory was the habitation of scores of lawless hands who lived by pillaging the country, a cask of gold was taken from a party of soldiers on their way to Fort Gibson and buried somewhere in the vicinity of what is known as Willow Springs.

Upon the arrival of the soldiers at the fort without the gold a large detachment of soldiers was sent out against the bands of outlaws. A battle ensued in which all of the outlaws were killed except one. This one was sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth.

Hope had never faded from this man and he expected some day to be pardoned and then to return for the hidden treasure. As the years rolled by, however, the confinement broke this man in health, and a few weeks ago he passed away in his cell in the government prison. Before he died, though, this man told his attendants the story of the robbery and as nearly as possible where the treasure was buried.

A party has been in the Willow Springs country for several weeks searching for the lost gold, but no trace has been found. So much faith has been pinned to the dying man's story, though, another search is to be instigated. The previous hunters have been persons entirely unfamiliar with the country, but now one of Vinila's young men who has lived near Willow Springs since childhood will be employed and a thorough search made.

Food for the Dead.
Corn and bread are still offered by the pious Basques of the Pyrenees to the dear departed on their death anniversary. A traveler in Spain describes how at San Sebastian he has often seen some poor fisherman's daughter praying in church for a dead relative, "amid baskets full of fruit, loaves of bread and corn, and kneeling upon the tomb of her ancestors."

ODD TEAM OF MOOSE.

Broken to Drive in Harness by Edward Crossman of Ely, Minnesota.

Edward Crossman, of Ely, Minn., owns one of the oddest teams in America. He has succeeded in the unusual task of breaking a pair of moose to drive in harness. In his buggy Mr. Crossman spins about as rapidly behind these animals as if drawn by a prancing span of horses. Ordinary reindeer have long figured in the mythical doings of Santa Claus, and the moose is a much larger and different representative of the deer family, and should not be confused with the reindeer.

These moose shown in the photograph were captured at Bear Island lake, a few miles to the southwest of Ely, three years ago. The mother had been killed by an Indian and a trapper in the vicinity, hearing his dog barking furiously, hurried to the spot where he found the two moose calves. Mr. Crossman bought these calves from the trapper and secured a permit from the governor to keep them in his possession.

At first the moose didn't relish being hitched up, but, as they are young, they became accustomed to it much sooner than if they had been full-grown. Their antlers are now growing, and by the time the animals are five years of age, will be of large size. At first the problem of feeding them was no small one. When running wild they live on pond lily roots, leaves of trees or tender shoots of willow, and to get the lily roots it is very common to see them wading in the shallow water of their native haunts. At first Mr. Crossman fed them willow twigs and young birch, but this became quite a task, for they required about three wagon loads a week. To-day they eat hay, turnips and cabbage, and seem to enjoy the diet as much as the one to which they had before been accustomed. One of these moose will eat as much as two horses. They nibble at something most of the time except when lying down during the middle of the day. Each weighs about 700 pounds or thereabouts. When full-grown their shoulders will be higher than those of a horse. Their antlers will then add materially to their weight, often weighing from 50 to 60 pounds. The moose have a coarse brown hair.

A FREAK CHICKEN.

It Is Hard to Tell Whether It Is a
Hen or a Duck.

Policeman Joseph Lussler, of Willimantic, has a queer freak chicken. The question which perplexes the observer is whether the freak is a hen or a duck. The hen-duck was hatched last May, and it has always borne the eccentricities heretofore described. Its head is the head of a pullet and other characteristics, but its walk, posture, etc., are like the duck's. When walking its body assumes the upright position, as in the picture. Its tail is short and stubby, and has that peculiar wag such as only the duck can give it, and its legs and feet resemble those of a duck, though the feet lack a web. When it tries to cackle it makes a sound which is seemingly a mixture of a cackle and a quack. It eats from the ground like a duck and drinks a great amount of water. As yet the freak has not laid an egg or essayed to swim, and these may determine later to which family it belongs.

PUT MONEY TO GOOD USE

Not Enough in the Office, So the Candidate Bought Himself a Farm.

In a small Indiana town there is an officer designated as inspector of streets and roadways, who receives the munificent salary of $250 per year. There was a lively campaign for this small plum not long ago, no other elections being near. The Democratic candidate was an old fellow by the name of Ezekiel Hicks, and it looked as though he would be successful, as a neat little sum had been subscribed and turned over to him as a campaign fund. To the astonishment of everybody, however, he was defeated. "I can't account for it," one of the Democratic leaders said, gloomily. "With that money we should have won. How did you lay it out, Ezekiel?" "Hum," Ezekiel said, slowly pulling his whisker, "yer see, that office only pays $250 a year salary, and I didn't see no sense in payin' $300 out to get the office, so I jest bought me a little truck farm instead."

DEADLY QUICKSILVER MINES

Workers Are Effected by the Fumes of the Mercury and Soon Die.

Europe's chief quicksilver mines are at the Spanish town Almaden, which is an Arabic word, meaning "the mine of quicksilver." These mines were formerly worked by the Iberians, and after them by the ancient Romans. Between 1645 and 1845 the Spanish government employed galley slaves in them, for working in these mines is occupation that soon ends in death. The fumes of the mercury produce constant salivation, and the system becomes permeated with the metal. The annual yield of mercury is 1,500,000 pounds, to procure which 4,000 men are engaged in this unhealthy employment.

After Almaden as a producer of quicksilver comes Idria, an Austrian town, 23 miles from Trieste. These mines also were once worked by criminals, who, owing to the terrible qualities of the mineral, expired after about two years' service.

There are now nearly 500 miners engaged in the work at Idria. They are induced to enter the mines by high pay. A pension is allowed when they are disabled, and provision is made for their widows and children.

TEMPTATIONS OF A VALET.

Assailed by Inducements to Increase the Size of His Master's Tailor Bill.

"Us valets has our temptations sir," he said, relates the New York Press. "Only yesterday, when I went to pay Mr. Henny's tailor bill, you ought to have heard what the manager said to me."

"He says, says he, handing me a $5 note: 'Why,' he says, 'this here bill ain't hard big enough for a man of Mr. Henny's position,' he says, 'the truth is that you don't brush your master's clothes hard enough.'"

"No?" says I.
"No," says he. "And now," he says, "I'll put you up to a wrinkle that'll put $50 a year in your pocket if you use it right."

"Then he brought from his office a stick all roughened on the end."

"Scrub this here rough stick," he says, "over the elbows of your master's coats," he says, "and now and then touch up his trousers about the knees a bit. I'll do wonders, used right. It ought to double his annual bill, and, if it does, there's $50 a year in it for you."

"I took the stick," said the valet, "but I ain't never used it, sir."

Mountaineer's Fall.

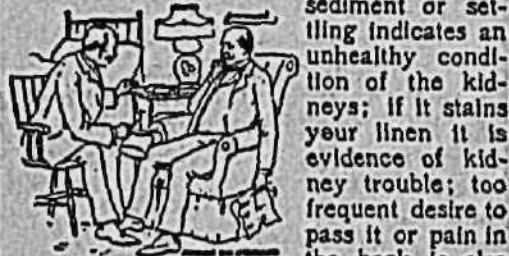

While climbing in the New Zealand Alps a man of the name of Low slipped on a snow couloir and fell ill he struck a rock, dislocating an ankle and lacerating a knee. For four days he crawled over broken ice and moraine, half the time in a severe snowstorm, and at last made a bivouac under the shelter of a rock. He lived ten days on one day's food. He was then rescued.

War Strength of Nations.

The total war strength of the army in Austria-Hungary is 2,580,000 men; France, 4,350,000; Germany, 5,240,000; Great Britain—England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland—884,095; Japan, 632,007; Russia, 5,258,000, and the United States, 100,000 regulars and 111,000 militia.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How to Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

REIGN OF TUMULT IN RUSSIAN HOUSE

INTERRUPT MINISTERS WITH CRIES OF "RESIGN."

TERSE QUESTIONS ASKED

Members of Cabinet Requested to Explain Hunger Strike, Arrest of Organizer and Trials by Courts-Martial.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—A remarkable scene of disorder in the lower house of parliament marked Tuesday's debate on the agrarian question, which was taken up owing to the delay in the presentation of the report on the draft of the law providing for the abolition of the death penalty.

Assistant Interior Minister Gurko, speaking in behalf of Interior Minister Stolypin, and M. Stchinsky, minister of agriculture, attempted to continue their arguments against socialism begun June 1, but their speeches were continually interrupted by cries of "Resign! Resign!"

Throughout the debate a steady undercurrent of obstructive noises drowned the voices of the officials. The demonstration, which was organized by the radicals, continued until Prince Peter Dolgoroukoff, vice president of the lower house, who presided, appealed to the members to remember the dignity of the house and give the ministers the hearing to which they were entitled by law.

Asks Ministry to Resign.
Owing to the tumult, M. Gurko and Stchinsky spoke very briefly. M. Gurko, who answered previous statements of Prof. Hertzstein, quoted the deputy's own words against him on the necessity for expropriating the lands of the more prosperous peasants in order to satisfy the land hunger of the many.

M. Petrunkevitch and Prof. Hertzstein, constitutional democrats, answered the ministers. Petrunkevitch, who was heard for the first time since the organization of the house, declared that a "patriotic dummy ministry would resign."

Clever Point of Orders.
Count Heyden, a marshal of the nobility, turned the laugh on Petrunkevitch and Hertzstein by pointing out that the two principal orators of the constitutional democrats were using the time of the house in protracted controversies with officials who they had already pronounced unworthy of confidence, and therefore the speakers were clearly out of order.

Notice was given of the introduction of a project by M. Vinaver, charging three sections of the parliament law regarding interpellations. This is a direct assault on the fundamental law or constitution which the parliament law is an integral part.

Resent Arrest of Organizer.

Three of the interpellations were introduced and made urgent orders. They refer to the "hunger strike" of the political prisoners confined in Taganrog prison, the arrest at Kharkoff of Stcherbak, the organizer of the peasants' league, whom has been referred to by Maxim Gorky as the future leader of revolutionary Russia, and the additional trials by court martial which have taken place at Nizhny Stcherbak visited the United States some time ago.

Daughters of Liberty.

Joliet, Ill., June 6.—Nine delegates representing the Daughters of Liberty in Illinois and Indiana met in convention here Tuesday. State Counselor Mrs. Lizzie Pontius, of Hammond, Ind., presided. The order is founded on patriotic lines, one of its planks favoring restriction of immigration.

Verdict Against Canfield.

New York, June 6.—A jury Tuesday awarded to John Delahanty a verdict for the full amount of his claim in his suit for $45,000 counsel fees against Richard Canfield for legal services.

Husband and Wife Dead.

Eldon, Ia., June 6.—D. E. Grindell and his wife were found dead in a hotel Tuesday. They were members of a traveling troupe of actors. A bullet had pierced the head of each. Grindell killed his wife and committed suicide.

LIKE DON'S STREETS.

Grass Grow in Tonopah, Nev., Under Any Conditions.

The Tonopah, Nev., has all modern conveniences except watered lawns and pavements. There is some talk of having it and it is sure to come. It will be some time, however, a local account, before there will be any parks or flowers or green grass, as is the desert. These luxuries will have to be omitted. There are, however, hotels, libraries, high priced restaurants, livery stables and garages, a small opera house is in contemplation, but green grass—never! It won't grow. It wouldn't grow if an awning was spread over the whole spot and the ten schools watered every few hours. For they have spent a year in the arid and are taken out, children, and grown folks, simply go wild with light as they roll in the beautiful grass of the first field they come across.

With all the wealth and happiness of the desert, there is one thing that must be forgotten. It is all right when one is making money and paying bills by check through the mail; one can forego green grass and foliage; but about the time the pennings fall and the stocks go down, the careful bill collector pokes his head in the door of the cheerful cabin and there is no joy in Tonopah any more than there was in Mudville when "Cassidy struck out." But such a sorry place is far off.

COMETS CAPTURE TAIL FIR

Information Registered—
Mow of the Stellar Parus.

If you are years old, you can claim to be right through the tail of a comet, says an authority. As a fact, twice during last century, in 1811 and 1861—did both of our whirl through the tail of a comet one in each of these named, and so slight was the damage done that no one realized that happened until some time later.

We have had with several meteor showers serious results. The collision of 1833 was the most remarkable. A whole sky appeared to be rattling, thousands of meteors visible at once, any of them far larger than Venus and leaving long, ant trails.

The earth's sphere protect us from any danger from these visitations. Solidities rushing in enormous rough space immediately fused and dissipated as gases when first come in contact with our atmosphere, the velocity then set resulting in incalculable heat.

About three halo comets appear every year, as a similar number of unexpected comets. Encls comes most recently, appearing three years.

A comet's head consists of a swarm of meteors, but tail is its fascinating part. It is pulled by the sun, for as a comet approaches the sun, its tail follows, which recedes from a sun tail first.

FORESTS OF PORTO RICO

Dense Jungles, Imposed of Many Different Kinds of Trees and Shrubs.

The primeval mountain forests of Porto Rico are no restricted to a few summits in the western part of the island, and to the best reserve of tropical forest in the world. The forests of Luquillo in the eastern part, established by a proclamation of President Roosevelt in 1903, they are dense jungles, composed of many different kinds of trees and shrubs the mountain palms being the most prominent feature. Those visited by us climbing arduous reach to their summits; graceful ferns add charm to the vistas; small ferns, mosses and lichens in great variety carpet the ground and clothe the rocks and tree trunks, and in the more open places many species of herbaceous plants occur; the whole forming a mass of vegetation of wondrous beauty and interest, many of the plants growing here occurring nowhere else in the world. One is brought to regret that this fascinating floral wealth is nowhere readily accessible to visitors, except by walking or horseback.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Philippine Tariff Bill shows signs of returning consciousness. But nobody has yet been found to throw any water on its face.

There is no kicking about Emma Goldman's wedding. She has reached the age to contract any sort of a marriage she chooses.

At the present moment, the Pure Food Bill and the Ship Subsidy measure seems to be having a neck and neck race for the tail-enders' pennant.

It is announced that Col. Bryan and Billy Hearst will form the next Democratic ticket. Having the more money and the less experience, it is to be presumed that Willie will be the tail of the kite.

It is announced that Mr. Bryan has been given the freedom of the floor in the Russian Duma. Now if the Duma wants to win right along, all it has to do is to take all of Mr. Bryan's suggestions and copper them.

Since the time the primaries were to have been held April 23, there seems to be quite a change in the political outlook in regard to County Clerk. Up to that time the present occupant of the office seemed to have the best of the situation, but the friends of Mr. Swayer, his opponent, have been very busy and aggressive and are making a lightning-change campaign. Judging from expressions heard from different parts of the county and from active political workers, Mr. Swayer will be the next County Clerk.

While there are scandals enough being unearthed in connection with the corporations of the country, there is one in Washington to which but little attention has been called. That is the condition existing in the Patent Office. This bureau of the government, and it is a great one, is fully eight months behind hand in some of its branches. The Commissioner of Patents is a man who has held office for a long time and he has come to the pass of many officials who have attended long on a government salary, of letting his office run itself and not attempting to make his force keep up with its work. The initial work of examining patents is from seven to eight months behind, in many divisions and this makes a delay of from a year to two years in issuing a patent. The hardship on the public is obvious and it is the more unreasonable when it is considered that the Patent Office is almost the only department of the government that does not pay its own expenses but turns in a large surplus each year to the Treasury.

As an octopus hunter it would be hard to beat the President. This administration will have many things to be remembered by, but few will rank in popular memory with the number of trusts detected and exposed. In fact it looks as though the President's dictum that there were good and bad trusts was near the point of disappearing. He has certainly located a plethora of bad trusts but there seems to be a minus mark still on the side of the good ones. And the latest of these is the packing scandal in Chicago. The President would have passed this by in silence if he could, and very properly too. It would have made for personal popularity and would have been good campaign material, but the President would have foregone both of these issues if he could have corrected the evil without publicity. But he could not. There was a great deal of surprise last week when it developed that Senator Beveridge had offered an amendment to the Agriculture Department Appropriation bill providing for very drastic inspection, the expenses to be borne by the packers. There was not even a division asked for on the amendment, which was really a rider on a very important bill. From this curious piece of legislation developed the whole story. It seems that last February there was written a novel purporting to deal with the packing house conditions in Chicago. The novel was outrageous. But the President sent out a private commission, composed of the Commissioner of Labor and a Mr. J. P. Reynolds, who is not connected in any way with the government services, to ascertain in the facts in case. They reported that the novel, which it is unnecessary to advertise by name, had not overdrawn the picture at all, and that the conditions of Chicago were almost too disgusting to print. It is obvious that another trust scandal had been unearthed and though it would have been good campaign material, an effort was made to tack the Beveridge amendment to the Agricultural Appropriation bill and correct the condition without creating a scandal that would effect our trade abroad. This was a patriotic enough plan, but the story leaked out from some source or other and now the story has been blown broadcast. Probably little harm has been done. Foreign dealers are making the most of the story as disclosed in the novel for months past, and it is just as well for the people in this country to get at the truth of the story and let what credit there is in it go to the record of the administration.

DRESS OF ROYAL MISSES.

Many Daughters of Nobility Are Exceedingly Modest and Simple in Their Attire.

People sometimes wonder what sum is put aside for dress by the daughters of royal houses, says the London Tatler.

Before her marriage, I read the other day, the Duchess of Fife was said to have a small dress allowance, and the sum of $1,500 a year was mentioned. Besides yachting and everyday dresses, and all the usual costumes required by a girl of the upper class, royal princesses have also to wear the costly and elaborate dresses which their rank demands at the weddings of their near relations.

On the whole, it may be asserted that a frugal princess may spend as little as $5,000 a year on her dress, while her more wealthy and extravagant sister may find her dress bills amount to ten times that sum.

The empress of Russia, who more than any other European lady is able to indulge her wildest fancies, dresses with the greatest simplicity—in the daytime mostly in tailor made coats and skirts, in the evening generally in the purest white.

Burmese Wives.

The Burmese woman must make an excellent wife. A Singapore paper says that her highest ambition is to maintain her husband in lordly idleness and to support him with abundant funds for cock fighting, bullock cart racing and gambling. And many of the Burmese women do big deals in timber, buying up in advance the "paddy" crops of a whole district, and so on, on a scale that requires big financing.

Important Questions.

How would you like to be your own horse? Would you let the head of a rivet stand twisted in the harness till it tore the skin off? Would you put a bridle on yourself that had a loose blinder that flapped you in the eye every time you made a step? Now, would you?—Detroit News.

Was Wasting Away.

The following letter from Robert R. Watts of Salem, Mo., is instructive. "I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years. I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." Sold by J. H. Swan.

Soldier's Gray Patch.

A distinguished captain in the British army, recently in New York, had a patch of white about the size of a silver half dollar just above his right ear and all the women he met fell in love with it. They jumped to the conclusion that he had been shot there, but he said it was due to an absence of pigment.

Picturesque Arabs.

Among the most picturesque figures in the kaleidoscopic streets of Constantinople are the Arab chieftains from Turkey's more southern possessions. Their loose white robes are brightened by gay scarfs, jeweled scabbards and lances, and by ornamental headresses heavy with ornaments of precious metals.

On the first indication of kidney trouble, stop it by taking Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Gotham School Teachers.

Board of education figures show that New York city employs nearly 14,000 teachers of all grades. On the roll of active class and department teachers this year there are 11,801 names, an increase of 325 over the previous year, with about 2,000 principals and assistants.

Some Wheat.

The wheat crop of 1905 is nearly 700,000,000 bushels. Out of this quantity, says Farming, the domestic consumption, including the requirements for seed upon the basis of the statistics of the last three years, will somewhat exceed 500,000,000 bushels.

Mush with the Milk.

SEVEN-HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS GRADUATE

The graduating exercises of the Antioch High school were held in the M. E. church on Thursday evening of last week. The class of seven graduates, five girls and two boys, was composed of the following: Helen Johnson, Deedie Tiffany, Cora Hooper, Laura Cannon, Bertha James, Herman Gubben and Joseph Turner. The church was very prettily decorated in the class colors, lavender and white, and the decorations were displayed in large letters the class motto, "Out of school life into life's school." The class appeared to the strains of a march finely rendered by Mrs. Anderson, the girls attired in white and the boys in black. Wm. Westlake then pronounced the invocation, after which Prof. George Huber rendered a pleasing zither solo. Helen Johnson gave the salutatory and delivered an essay entitled "Some Influences of Literature," in which she plainly set forth the evil of cheap, trashy literature, and the effects of the ordinary dime novel on the youthful mind. Next Bertha James rendered a vocal solo, which was fully appreciated. Deedie Tiffany then gave an essay the title of which was, "The Value of Time," and in a capable manner set forth this topic and gave a few illustrations of the opportunities lost by idlers and those who did not value their time, and strongly emphasized the necessity of promptness. Bertha James used as her topic "The Greatest Evil of Our Country," which she truly pictured, it is alcoholic drink, and she touchingly related a few instances of the same. Miss Ollie Mae Marteeny of Chicago gave a vocal selection which was very good. This was followed by an essay given by Cora Hooper, entitled "Life is What We Make of It." She told in an able manner, how we can make our lives profitable and pleasant or the reverse by our own actions. After this the influence of literature was related, which was very pleasingly played by Helen Johnson. The oration, "Look Ahead," by Joseph Turner was given in an interesting manner and gave evidence of much thought and study. Next came a finely executed piano duet by Miss Higgins and Mrs. Cannon. The essay then given by Laura Cannon, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," in which she advised all to live today, and guard against the mistakes of yesterday, and guard against the re-appearance tomorrow, was bright and well rendered. Following this came another selection on the zither, which was well played by Prof. Huber, after which Herman Gubben gave an oration and valedictory, "True Bravery," in an able and capable manner. Miss Marteeny then favored the audience with another vocal solo, following which Prof. Huber gave a short closing prayer. In conclusion Prof. Huber presented the graduates with their diplomas. The benediction was then pronounced by Rev. McNamee.

Interesting to Asthma Sufferers.

Foreign Books in China.

The desire for foreign books is so great in China to-day that the missionary is pressed upon by the crowds, eager to get his Bibles and other publications, and the press at Shanghai is six months behind in its orders. The Bible is a heathen country will create a demand for 100 copies, one tract a craving for numberless "portions" of the book.

Scotch in Office.

The four principal personages in the British empire, ranking after royalty, are Scotch—the prime minister, the archbishop of York, the lord chancellor and the archbishop of Canterbury. The governor general of India is of the same race, as are several of the most important offices in the ministry, such as the chief secretary and the lord lieutenant of Ireland.

Ten Years in Bed.

R. A. Gray, J. P., Oakville, Ind., writes: "For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys. It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." Sold by J. H. Swan.

Motors in Naples.

Automobiles, says the British consul at Naples, are coming rapidly into use in Naples, and will soon be adopted as public carriages. The use of motor boats has spread very much at Naples. It will soon be "all up" with the "merry boatman and his boat" on the Bay of Naples, as well as with the gondolier on the canals of Venice.

Beer Trust in Japan.

According to the Yokohama Mail a very recent development in Japan is a beer trust, formed largely upon the advice of the minister of state for agriculture and commerce. The manufacture of beer in Japan amounted to 3,800,000 gallons in 1904, being almost double the production for 1902. However, the production for 1901, before the imposition of a tax, reached 4,800,000 gallons. The exports of beer in 1904 were valued at $375,000, while for the first ten months of 1905 the exports reached $650,000.
